has not been initialized successfully for 10.10. Any help please? A: When installing a game on linux, you should always go through the game's website for installation instructions (because sometimes these instructions are Linux-specific). In your case, the last error you posted means you have an incompatible openGL version for this game, according to this: Try the following: 1. Install mesa (OpenGL) to use the software rendering. This means that your GPU will be used to render the game. sudo apt-get install mesa-utils 2. Install libgles1-mesa (OpenGL ES) to use the graphics processor (GPU). sudo apt-get install libgles1-mesa 3. Go to Software and Updates and disable the "recommended" mesa driver. Go to "Additional Drivers" and select the "Other" tab. Select the "proprietary nvidia" driver and choose "Install" for it. 4. Start the game. Following successful pilot testing with individual animals, we aim to validate the feasibility of this new technology in a larger group of animals for studies of health, disease and behaviour, such as the assessment of cognition and social communication, anxiety-related behaviour and resilience, and by applying the technology to large population studies. New technologies based on MRI or CT scans allow for easy and rapid measurement of brain volume. Since the measure of brain volume is a key parameter for quantifying changes in brain function or pathology, this new methodology is ideally suited to describe brain development and brain ageing, including the investigation of Alzheimer's disease (AD) and other neurodegenerative diseases. A network of devices was designed to measure the brain volumes of 12 rats for the first time using MRI, which measures the spatial distribution of water molecules in the brain. The problem of manual segmentation for brain volumes from MRI images is one of the greatest obstacles in the application of such technology in animal studies. This is because manual segmentation is time-consuming, highly dependent on the expertise of the operator, and prone to segmentation errors. Although the standardisation of this process is under way, current protocols are quite demanding, especially for rat brains that are much smaller
