. 2020-04-06T22:11:01.821Z . Set path to the DLL files in the file explorer. Cracked. Without the crack, the program doesn't work. I've tried to install it using the in-app . You can also see the crack here: Q: Activating Service after created on Android I have a question about the activation of Services (first time when I start my app and first time when the Service is created). Is there a different way to create a Service, like a parameter which registers the Service when it's created? Instead of calling startService()... I'd like to activate it only once on initialization. But the issue is that I have to put in my manifest the permission "startService". A: The service is created when it is binded to an activity. I suggest you have two activities, one to start the service and the other one to bind to the service. Q: Customizing the constructor of attributes I am creating a test environment for a web application by using ServerTestCase, but i have some problems when i try to customize the constructor of the attributes. Let's take the following example import unittest from database import * from portaldb.import * from portaldb.define_table('users', id = 'id', data = ['name']) portaldb.create_record('users', id = 'id', data = ['name']) portaldb.cr
