The present invention is directed to a new and distinct cultivar of New Guinea Impatiens, botanically known as Impatiens × hybrida, and hereinafter referred to by the cultivar name 'UFALPE96'. The new cultivar is a product of a planned breeding program. The objective of the breeding program was to create new Impatiens cultivars with large rounded flowers, and moderately vigorous, compact growth habits. The new Impatiens cultivar is a selection from among a group of seedlings originated from a cross made by the inventor in a controlled breeding program in Lochristi, Belgium. The female or seed parent is the proprietary seedling selection identified as 'UFGPB2' (not patented) characterized by its light purple-colored flowers, medium green-colored foliage, and moderately vigorous, compact growth habit. The male or pollen parent is the proprietary seedling selection identified as 'UFGPB8' (not patented) characterized by its light purple-colored flowers, medium green-colored foliage, and moderately vigorous, compact growth habit. The new cultivar was discovered and selected as a single flowering plant within the progeny of the above stated cross during April of 2001 in a controlled environment in Lochristi, Belgium. Asexual reproduction of the new cultivar by terminal cuttings since April 2001 in Lochristi, Belgium and West Chicago, Ill. has demonstrated that the new cultivar reproduces true to type with all characteristics, as herein described, firmly fixed and retained through successive generations of such asexual propagation.
