Best features: Tons of overlays, powerful selection tools, powerful tools for adjusting, interesting shape tools, layers, and superb image editing capabilities. 2. Adobe Illustrator: This tool helps you create designs and graphical images. You can draw basic shapes, such as circles, rectangles, and lines, and can also create logos, advertisements, and other designs. With Illustrator, you can quickly create a variety of images. You can alter and edit an object in one place. It has some features similar to those in Photoshop, such as layers, the Brush tool, and Gradients. However, Illustrator is better for creating dynamic designs than Photoshop is. Best features: You can create unique designs and images. It has a lot of useful tools for editing, including a "pencil" or "brush" feature, vector-based art tools, and color tools. 3. Adobe Fireworks: It's a web design tool that can help you design web pages and logos. You create web page designs and animations. Fireworks doesn't have the power to create the most complex designs, but it's ideal for creating logos, brochures, flyers, and other designs for use on the web. Fireworks is a must-have for anyone creating designs for the web. It has many effects that you can apply to an object and then save your work in formats that can be used in other programs, including Flash. Best features: You can create special effects such as 3D designs. You can customize the interface, using panels and buttons for color, shape, and size. It has many cool features, including support for Flash. 4. CorelDRAW: This tool is geared for creating a variety of types of graphics. It has been good at creating professional quality designs, including logos, newsletters, menus, and other items. It's a great program for anyone who wants to create professional graphics. It is one of the few programs that you can design a logo with. You can create and edit vector graphics or raster graphics. Best features: Allows you to create, edit, and save graphics. It has features for creating and editing text. 5. CorelDraw Photo-Plus: This is a graphic design program for creating photo graphics. It is similar to Adobe Fire

In this tutorial we are going to learn some basic techniques to retouch images in Photoshop Elements, such as how to fix red eye, white eye, hairline, illumination, lens distortion, crop, or resize an image. This tutorial is focused on the latest version of Photoshop Elements, Elements 2018 and upwards. For those older versions, a tutorial for the older versions of Photoshop Elements is available here. Step 1: Opening an image Open an image Go to File > Open, or press Ctrl+N in the keyboard shortcuts bar. The Open dialog will open, which displays all the files on your computer. Before opening an image, you'll need to make sure to import the image into Photoshop Elements. Step 2: Create a new document Create a new document Go to File > New and a new empty document will be created. Step 3: Selecting the active layer Select the active layer The active layer, by default, is the layer that has the image on it. In the Layers Panel, the active layer is highlighted in purple. You can also access the active layer through the Window menu. Step 4: Cleaning a photo Cleaning a photo To clean a photo, you will have to remove unwanted elements from it. The Easel tool allows you to remove unwanted elements from an image. Press the tool icon in the toolbox. Select the brush. Click and drag to select the brush size and opacity. Draw a line in the background of the canvas. Click on the canvas to start painting. Click and drag to remove the unwanted elements. Step 5: Reducing the noise of an image Reducing the noise of an image Noise will affect the overall look of your image. It will create a blurry background and unwanted objects will be visible in the image. Go to Filter > Noise > Reduce Noise. In the Noise reduction box, you can decrease or increase the amount of noise reduction based on your needs. The strength of the reduction is represented by the number in the box. Step 6: Adding an object to an image Adding an object to an image Add an object to your image by: Go to Select > Add > From the Select menu. Click and drag the object onto the canvas. a681f4349e

Ask HN: What are some good "Necessity Is the Mother of Invention" stories - dopeboy There are certain stories (stories from history, but more modern) which makes you realize how some other person was so desperate, they had to find a solution out of a necessity and came up with this particular invention. ===== rlander William Allen: life/william-allen-used-a-fishing-ha... ----- the_chemist [like/](----- meatpoultry At the beginning of WWII, around 75% of the German military relied on snapshots, not properly processed, for reconnaissance purposes. Colonel von Beck decided that having to give his soldiers a camera for every soldier in the front line was ridiculous. He requested that someone invent a handheld device, which could be concealed, and used in a much more efficient manner. The device had to be able to withstand harsh weather conditions, be both lightweight and sturdy, and, most importantly, had to have at least a 1x magnification. A couple of months later, while serving as a lieutenant, he met Hans Clemenstiehl, an officer from the famous Aerial Photography Section of the German Air Ministry. Clemenstiehl was working on a mechanical solution at the time and asked von Beck to introduce him to the appropriate expert for a prototype, which von Beck agreed to. They both went to Otto Brenning, a mechanical engineer and engineer for the Berlin-based firm, which was used to designing such camera-like devices. Despite not being a mechanical engineer, Brenning immediately recognized what von Beck wanted, and sketched out something that was even more specific than von Beck had asked. Brenning's prototype was first shown to the military in early 1944. ----- crispy2000

, 427 U.S. 443, 96 S.Ct. 2523, 49 L.Ed.2d 493 (1976) (transferring a § 1983 action to the appropriate federal court); and Williams v. Red Bank Bd. of Ed., 662 F.2d 1008, 1009 (3d Cir.1981) (transferring a § 1983 action to the state court). 14 We hold, however, that the case at bar was properly transferred pursuant to the Supreme Court's decision in Van Dusen. We find a significant difference between the transfer in the instant case and the transfer in Van Dusen. The transfer in Van Dusen concerned the effect of the transfer on the parties. The moving party, a West Virginia corporation, sought to transfer the case to Florida so that it could be more conveniently litigated. The transferee court, the Middle District of Florida, was one of the circuits in which the corporate party would have been subject to venue. Here, on the other hand, the transfer would not have affected the venue of the suit. All of appellants' claims are based upon New Jersey tort law. In New Jersey, the venue for a tort action is in the county in which the cause of action accrued. See, e.g., Muniz v. United States, 642 F.2d 259, 260 n. 1 (3d Cir.1981); N.J.SA 18A:2-2b. Transferring the case to a district in which the tort would have had to have accrued would not have changed the venue of the action. Thus, unlike in Van Dusen, the transfer in the instant case was not at the behest of the parties but was made pursuant to a federal statute. See 28 U.S.C. § 1406(a). Moreover, the transferee court was not one that would have been an alternative forum for the plaintiffs. See Harris v. United States, 732 F.2d 474, 475 n. 2 (5th Cir.1984) (explaining the difference between the two situations). 15 Although the United States cannot be deemed a party to the instant case, it is clear that the United States had a strong interest in having the case transferred to the District of New Jersey. As a federal instrumentality
