Jul 5, 2018 Intel® has informed HP of potential security vulnerabilities identified in the Intel® Active Management Technology (AMT) and Intel® Standard . A: This looks like the page for the EC6812N-T1H Power Adapter (F7D13F-66N) that you can download a firmware for from HP. I am currently using an exact same adapter and the driver installed on Windows 10 Pro that you have is for your specific adapter model. I have a different model from yours and I am using Windows 8.1. It could be that the drivers available on Windows 10 Pro are for your model (just making sure) Q: How to convert string/raw (fixed length) to array for FIFO implementation I want to create FIFO implementation, and I want the queue to be fixed length, so I need to convert a string to an array of length 7, where the elements are "0", "1", "2", "3", "4", "5" and "6". If the string is of length 8, then I need to convert it to [0, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7] etc. I have a function call get_numbers(str) which has str as a parameter and gets me the length of the string, but how can I convert this string/raw into an array? A: str = str.slice(1); should be your function 1. Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a solid-state imaging device and, more specifically, a solid-state imaging device in which a signal of a color sensitive color filter layer is photoelectrically read by a single solid-state imaging element. 2. Description of the Related Art In a conventional color filter, three kinds of color sensitive filters (red, green and blue filters) are arranged in a Bayer arrangement so that the three color sensitive filters form a mosaic pattern. When an object to be picked up is colored, three kinds of color filters are arranged in a Bayer arrangement so that the three kinds of color filters form a mosaic pattern 4bc0debe42
