* From now on your shares won't go missing. TattleChat creates a share in the place you upload it and checks in on it every few minutes. If a share goes missing, you'll receive an email alert.

* TattleChat allows you to do several things from inside the share. One of the most useful is the ability to start private and public chat windows.

* You can control who can see your chat, by setting privacy levels.

* You can block users, even if they're friends. TattleChat can tell when a blocked user tries to access the shared chat. * You can have as many chats as you like - all running in parallel. * You can have as many chats as you like - all running in parallel. * TattleChat allows you to set up chat rooms easily with just a couple clicks. * You can allow users to chat, and even save their chat history in public. * Chat rooms are easy to share with other people by putting them in a tattle file and sending it to a friend. * You can easily add your chat room to a tattle file by placing it in a folder that is already configured to share files with your friends. * Files in public shares can be accessed by anyone. * You can put files in public shares at any time and they will be available to anyone who joins the share. * Your public shares will automatically be linked to your google calendar and show up in gmail. * You can add images, video, and music to your shares. * You can add unlimited amounts of links to your shares. * You can set up shares that are linkable to an address book, so that people can easily be invited. * You can create multiple tattle files, with varying restrictions on their ability to access each chat room. * You can set up multiple chat rooms that are all different, with different rules on who can join each one. A: If you want to share folders with other people, I'd recommend you to use something like DropBox, which is a cloud storage that you can share. Q: how to save a file if the file is blank with nifi I am using nifi to ingest data from an iphone into my HDFS, the file is overwritten everytime since the file is empty, how do I overwrite it to the file as it is running? A:
