Have we got a deal here? A: Never get into trouble. Use Google: Use those. Terminally ill veteran is ridiculed by leftists for 'flirting' with his widow in final days were full of laughter and reminiscence as he made friends with his oldest friend in the world, his widow. Attending a memorial service at church with her on Saturday, Alice Stroup was hit by a poignant moment when her husband Frank at a memorial service in Montgomery County, West Virginia on Saturday 'I looked at him and I said, "Are you dying?" she laughed. 'He looked at me and he said, "Well, I don't feel good." 'One of the last times we were together was the previous Wednesday,' she said. 'We were reminiscing about old times.' 'It was an occasion for him to talk about the war. Even though he had lost his leg, it was an occasion for him to just laugh and smile. He had no pain. He was able to walk and he was able to do pretty much everything.' Alice spent the last few weeks preparing for her husband's death, getting his will changed to give her the majority of his estate. Frank Stroup died last week. Above, Stroup's widow leaves a memorial service for her husband in Montgomery County, West Virginia In a final attempt to spare his beloved wife from his own gruesome fate, Frank was taken to CVS pharmacy on Friday to have his legs amputated. However, his condition had deteriorated so the medical team decided to call it quits and end his suffering - and life. Later, they told Alice that Frank worked in the coal industry for more than 40 years and owned his own company before his sudden illness struck. 'We always said that we would have a big funeral,' his widow said. 'We were planning on a family funeral because my in-laws live in doc515b9f4

Lladríl The Battle Of The Five Kings (Battle of the Five Kings) All bookmarksQ: html5 web audio api playback position jumps to end of audio file I'm using the html5 audio API to play multiple clips (in.ogg format) on my website. I'm using the start and end metadata to make sure the user gets only a few seconds of the whole audio track. There's one problem I'm having. When the user plays the first time, the actual playback position goes to the start of the audio file. It doesn't jump to the correct position until after the first play, even if the user pauses. My code is similar to this: var audio = new Audio('music.ogg'); audio.addEventListener('canplay', onAudioStart, false); audio.addEventListener('canplay', onAudioStart, false); audio.addEventListener('timeupdate, onAudioStart() { var pos = audio.buffered.end(0); audio.currentTime = 0; audio.play(); } function onAudioEnd() { audio.current
