The devices running on Android 4.0 or above which do not have a lock screen can be hacked. Developers have been busy working on this issue for a long time. Are you using a stock ROM? If so, download and install one of the three most popular Modules: AsHack, IO.Agenda or Repro Toolbox. For users who don't want to use another ROM just download the main module from my site, save it to your SD Card and flash it with ICONÂ® Flash Tool. The flash will automatically be saved into your Windows User Directory as AA-AA.img . Â· Download the AA-AA.img from the SmashBuck Download Directory, and unzip it. You'll need a GBA emulator, and download the latest SmashBuk from the SmashBuck Download Directory. If you're not using a custom firmware, then you should never enter into the second stage. You will exit the second stage back to the main menu, but if you're doing something interesting with the GBA and SMB2 game files, you will return to the main menu. You can't leave the map if you're going through the second stage, so I would not recommend doing that. (Sorry, I don't know why you would want to, since you're using a stock ROM.) . Â· Download the file AA-AA and save it to
