Have you already indulged in a little of the macaroon? For those of you who haven't had the pleasure, the macaroon is a small, encrusted cookie that is a staple in Australian and New Zealand bakeries. These cookies can be purchased at most supermarkets and bakeries around the world, and with the perfect combination of soft, chewy and cinnamony, the macaroon is a natural choice when looking for dessert. However, these days there are many other more exotic cookies that can be difficult to find. For those of you looking for something a little more unusual, give these macaroon cookies a try. These macaroon cookies are filled with a combination of butter, chocolate and vanilla. If you've never had them before, these cookies are a little chewy, but they have a smooth chocolate centre. If you want to make your own macaroon cookies then I suggest you use a ratio of 1:4 (1 cup of flour to 1/4 cup of sugar) and make the balls of dough a little larger in diameter. This will make it easier to pipe the macaroon filling into them. Alternatively, if you want to buy a batch of macaroon cookies from an Australian bakery, I would suggest that you go to one of the major supermarkets and look through the baking aisle. You should be able to find macaroon cookies at many supermarkets. Whichever recipe you choose to use, I recommend that you make your own macaroon cookies. No matter which recipe you use, I would recommend that you follow the instructions very closely. If you bake them for too long or too low, you will find that the macarons will burn, which is not a desirable end result. I hope you enjoy this recipe! Macaroon Cookies (Makes 12 macaroons) 180g Butter (1 cup) 40g Cocoa (1/4 cup) 40g Instant Vanilla Powder (1/4 cup) 240g (2 cups) Plain Flour 1/4 tsp Baking Powder 1 tbsp Sugar (2 tbsp) Water For the macaroons 300g (2 cups) Blonde Brown Sugar (Thinly Sliced) 2 tbsp Water 2 Egg Whites (For Egg Whisking Instructions) 1/2 tsp Baking
